1. The airfield at Erdevik, northwest of Belgrade in the Srem region has a grassy terrain and is 1500 meters in length and 1000 meters in width. Hangars are in the process of construction.
2. The airfield at Ruma in the Srem region has a grassy terrain with brick runways and is 1100 meters in length and 100 meters in width. The northern end of the field is about 800 meters distant from the Zagreb-Belgrade railroad line. In 1945 it was an auxiliary airfield. There are some hangars on the field, which is surrounded by a barbed wire fence. At one time there was a pilot school on the field with 80 pupils.
3. A new airfield is reported to be in the process of construction between Batajnica and Nova Pazova. The work is being done by the surrounding population under the supervision of Yugoslav engineers and Soviet technicians.
4. An auxiliary airfield is being constructed in the locality of Divlje Polje in the Kragujevac area.
